This Month's Featured Brand

(This is the first in a series of articles to promote Down to Earth's ALL VEGETARIAN Preferred Brands. To be recognized as an "ALL VEGETARIAN Preferred Brand", manufacturers must exclude meat and meat-based ingredients from their entire product range, and make them from natural, organic, and GMO-free ingredients.)

Amy's

Amy's® Kitchen: from humble beginnings to industry leader

During the late 1980s, the founders of Amy's® Kitchen didn't set out to be an industry trail blazer, much less create the nation's leading natural frozen food brand.

Andy and Rachel Berliner started the Amy's business in 1987 as a little family operation in a converted barn on a Sonoma County ranch. They named it after their newborn baby girl.

Amy was a third generation vegetarian. Her grandfather was the first to become a vegetarian in 1968. Her mother, Rachel, became a vegetarian at 16 when she realized that the lamb chop she was eating was once a live lamb. When she and her brother Joel stopped eating meat as teenagers, their mother was afraid they would get sick and die from malnutrition. They didn't, and she soon joined them in following a meatless diet.

Easy to Prepare

This wasn't as easy to do in the 70's as it is today. There were no convenient frozen meals in the marketplace that vegetarians could eat. Restaurants offered little more than cheese sandwiches, salads and baked potatoes. "We'd both been vegetarians for 20 years before Amy came along," recalls Andy. "Suddenly there was no time to shop and prepare for the garden-fresh, organic vegetables we loved. We knew we weren't the only family in that position."

"Everyone appreciates great-tasting food that's simple to prepare," explains Rachel. "What matters to most people is not that our food is vegetarian, or that it's made from organic ingredients. People buy Amy's for its quality, convenience and, above all, taste."

Healthy Meals for Everyone

Amy's Kitchen offers frozen entrées, pot pies, whole meals, bowls, pizzas, burgers, snacks, pocket sandwiches, burritos and toaster pops, canned soups, beans and chili, as well as jarred pasta sauces and salsa. Many of the products are gluten-free, dairy-free, vegan or low-fat. Amy's has been introducing many of the best-selling products in a "Light in Sodium" version to aid those watching their sodium in-take.

The company uses certified organic ingredients, including vegetables, grains and fruits grown without pesticides. Fats are used sparingly and selectively; dairy products are made with pasteurized rBST hormone-free milk and do not contain animal enzymes or rennet. No dishes contain meat, fish, poultry or eggs. Amy's products are non-GMO and do not contain hydrogenated fats or oils.
